Care & Maintenance

The best way to clean the sink is to use a soft cloth or sponge, with non-abrasive detergent diluted in warm water. Strong detergents should not be used. This will help prevent the formation of lime scale marks.

Stubborn stains can be removed with a cloth soaked in diluted bleach or alcohol or in extreme cases with acetone. After this rinse the surface well with water. Do not use highly alkaline substances like ammonia or caustic soda. Do not put pans or coffee pots that have just been taken off the heat. Do not pour boiling oil into the sink as this could deform the drain pipes

Do not cut food directly in the sink. Lime scale residue can be removed with vinegar or acetic acid.
